MARSH ATTACKS STOCK GAMBLERS

Declares Wall Street Men Have Robbed People of Many Millions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Wall street gamblers who have robbed the American people of hundreds of millions of dollars under federal control of railroads and under the Esch-Cummings law, ought to be compelled to make restitution and this would permit a large reduction of freight rates," Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the National National council, declared today in testifying before the interstate commerce commission.

Marsh submitted a letter from the white house dated May 19, 1921, stating that by the president's direction, there had been referred to the attorney-general the letter of the late George P. Hampton, then managing director of the farmers' council, asking an investigation of charges of waste made to the railroad labor board by the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

"The failure of the attorney-general act raises suspicion that he found proof of guilt," Marsh said. Continuing his discussion of the railroad situation, Marsh told the commission that "experience has shown that unified government operation of railroads is more efficient and cheaper than private speculative competitive operation and the only way by which shippers can get lower freight rates."

CLINTON SUE FOR $10,000

First National Bank Officer Defendant in Action Brought by Woman.

Lee Clinton, vice president of the First National bank was named defendant in a suit for $10,000 filed Saturday in district court by Nola Childers Tracy, wealthy Indian heiress. It is claimed that the $10,000 is money which was paid to Clinton under an agreement which was secured by misrepresentation while he was Mrs. Tracy's guardian.

In her petition the woman claims that she was sent to Texas by her guardian and attorney, Woodson E. Norvell and D. B. Horsley, who told her that designing persons were attempting to gain her guardianship. Later she says she was beguiled into signing an agreement with the three men whereby they were to receive 10 per cent of the gross receipts of each sale from her land. This she claims, was represented to her as due them for their work in plotting and selling the land.

Later, she claims, after coming back to Tulsa, she decided the agreement was unfair and asked to have it cancelled. The three men told her that the agreement was binding and that they could recover damages under it, she claims. So in order to cancel the agreement, she alleges in her petition that she entered into a second agreement on December 21, whereby she paid Norvell and Horsley $25,000 each and Clinton $10,000. Mrs. Tracy declares that a note for $10,000 owed her by E. Constantin was turned over to Clinton in settlement and that Constantin has paid the note in full. She asks restitution of this money with interest.

NEW PETITION FILED

Shouquette Tries Again When Mandamus Proceedings Against Clerk Are Thrown Out of Court.

The mandamus proceedings brought by Eddie Shouquette, convicted bank robber, against Mrs. Frances Harvey, court clerk, in an attempt to force her approval of a $10,000 supersedeas bond which he had filed, were thrown out of court on a demurrer as to form by District Judge Veltman Biddison Saturday. J. M. Springer, counsel for Shouquette later filed another petition and Judge Biddison set the hearing for February 7.

Shouquette, who is being held in the county jail pending his removal to McAlester where he will begin serving a 15-year term, was convicted last spring before Judge Redmond S. Cole. Until a month ago he was at liberty on an appeal bond. Two of his bondsmen turned him in following his arrest in Oklahoma City on a hi-jacking charge.

Mrs. Harvey refused to approve Shouquette's present bond on the ground that she did not consider the security sufficient. Three men are scheduled as sureties, S. K. Leskey of West Tulsa, John P. Crawford, Ada criminal lawyer, and a man named Jerkin, step-father of Shouquette and proprietor of the Ardmore rooms.

ARBUCKLE IS READY AGAIN

Says He Is Certain of Vindication in His Third Impending Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—The future plans for Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle hinge today on the date for his third trial which will be set next Monday by Judge Harold Louderback, who heard the two previous trials.

"There are reasons why I want to go back to Los Angeles before the next trial," said the rotund comedian. "But if an immediate date is set, I'll stay here. The fact that the jury stood 10 to 2 for conviction and District Attorney Brady's assertion that he will try me again makes me more determined for a third trial. Through the channel of another hearing I can prove my innocence and I'm ready to stand trial again tomorrow."

Arbuckle admitted today that two days before the case went to the jury he had reconciled himself to another disgracement.

"OKLAHOMA'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER"

LOCATED in the center of Tulsa's coming business section, the Tulsa Daily World has one of the largest, finest and most complete publishing plants in the southwest. Its equipment is the most modern that can be obtained—its editorial, news and business policies are sane, fair and progressive. All of which is proven by the important place The World holds in the life and development of Tulsa, and the fact that The World is truly one of the great newspapers of America.

Circulation

The average net paid circulation of the Tulsa Daily World for January was 35,921 daily and 36,979 Sunday. This is by far the largest circulation ever obtained by any newspaper in this section and is over 40 per cent larger than that of the second newspaper.

The World has the largest city circulation and thoroughly covers Tulsa. Last month the city circulation was approximately 17,000 copies, whereas, according to the latest census figures, there are only 16,916 families in the city. Likewise The World has a tremendous influence throughout the entire eastern part of the state on account of its suburban and country circulation of nearly 20,000 copies daily.

This large circulation and rapid growth is the best possible evidence of the esteem and confidence in which the Tulsa World is regarded by the people of eastern Oklahoma.

Advertising

During 1921 the Tulsa World printed 9,084,276 lines of advertising. This was more than one-third the volume carried by the largest newspaper in the United States and far more than any other newspaper in this section of the country carried.

In Want Ads—the best indication of a newspaper's value as an advertising medium—The World printed 252,609 separate ads, twice the number carried by any newspaper in eastern Oklahoma.

On a circulation basis, The World's rates are the lowest in the state and far below the average rate of all the newspapers in the United States.

The World's advertising columns offer Tulsa merchants and manufacturers the best and least expensive method of reaching their prospective customers. Rapid increase in volume carried is proof of its effectiveness.
